World of Laura Ingalls Wilder This year is the 150th anniversary of Laura Ingalls Wilder's birthday. In the World of Laura Ingalls Wilder, Marta McDowell explores Wilder's deep relationship to the landscape. Readers will follow the trail of the series, starting in the Wisconsin setting of the Little House in the Big Woods. Throughout, they'll learn details about Wilder's life and inspirations, discover how to visit the real places today, and even learn to grow the plants and vegetables featured in the stories. The artful package includes original illustrations by Helen Sewell and Garth Williams, along with historical and contemporary photographs. The world of Laura Ingalls Wilder is a must-read companion to the Little House books and a must have treasure for the millions of readers enchanted by Laura's wild and beautiful life.

All the Presidents' Gardens The 18-acres surrounding the White House have been an unwitting witness to history. Throughout it all, the grounds have remained not only beautiful, but also a powerful reflection of American trends. In All the Presidents' Gardens Marta McDowell tells the untold history of the White House Grounds, starting with plant-obsessed George Washington design and ending with Michelle Obama's kitchen garden. History buffs will revel in the fascinating tidbits about Lincoln's goats, Ike's putting green, Jackie's iconic roses, and Amy Carter's tree house. Gardeners will enjoy the information on the plants whose favor has come and gone over the years and the gardeners who have been responsible for it all. And readers everywhere will delight in the historical and contemporary photographs, vintage seeds catalogs, and rare glimpses into Presidential pastimes.
